This course provides skills and knowledge required to use personal hygiene practices to prevent contamination of food that might cause food-borne illnesses. It requires the ability to follow predetermined organisational procedures and to identify and control food hazards.

Use Hygienic Practices for Food Safety applies to businesses with permanent or temporary kitchen premises or smaller food preparation or bar areas.

In Queensland, all food handlers are required to complete food safety training, this includes anyone who handles food directly or works with surfaces that might come into contact with food, such as cutlery, plates and bowls during the course of their daily work activities. This includes cooks, chefs, caterers, kitchen stewards, kitchen hands, bar, and food and beverage attendants, and sometimes room attendants and front office staff.

YOU WILL LEARN

- Basic aspects of commonwealth, state or territory food safety laws, standards and codes
- To follow hygiene procedures and identify food hazards
- Effective personal health and hygiene practices
- How to prevent food contamination
- Correct hand-washing procedures
- Appropriate use of uniform and personal protective equipment
